History of the College

The embodiment of knowledge and education was the prime attraction of the historical study of Nadia or Nabadwip. The rulers of Nadia used to provide free land as grants to the pious adherents and bestowed grants to the scholars and scholarships to the students to encourage the culture of knowledge in Nabadwip. Any ancient and affluent city or town feels egotistical of its political history, administrative glory, an abundance of architectural styles, or religious splendor. But the self-esteem of Nabadwip was owing to the glory and accomplishments of its educational pursuit so as a consequence many knowledge-seeking scholars ignited the light of this knowledge. Nabadwip is situated about seventy miles north of Calcutta. It was a very large and populous city, a great trading center, and a seat of Hindu learning in the 15th and 16th centuries. According to Thakur Brindaban, a citizen, a saint, a student and an eye-witness, “thousands every day came to the town from all parts of India, some to begin and some to finish their education, and thousands left every day after having obtained their diplomas.”

Nabadwip Vidyasagar College began its journey on March 5th, 1942. Nabadwip Vidyasagar College celebrated its 79th anniversary with all of the innovations, opportunities, experiences, and relationships it has absorbed and shared over the course of its 80-year history. The college is in the heart of the town, with a campus of approximately 3 acres and built-up areas of approximately 7000 sq. meters. The college is divided into six blocks: administrative, Chaitanya Bhavan, Science Block, Arts Block, Commerce Block, and Library, along with seventeen departments. The college has separate hostels for SC/ST boys and an under-construction girls' hostel. There are separate common rooms for boys and girls and teachers with facilities for indoor games like carom, table tennis, volleyball, and badminton, and they also have provisions for playing outdoor games. The college offers regular postgraduate courses in Sanskrit and also has a study centre for M.A. distance education.

The institution was awarded by the NAAC (2nd cycle) and achieved 'B' grade (CGPA 2.28) on and from September 20th and 21st, 2017. Enhancing its glory, the college was announced as a "Model College" by RUSA. It is the only degree college in the Nadia district that has acquired such type of honour. Nabadwip Vidyasagar College has a rich library with about 35,000 books, journals, and periodicals in a three-story building with an area of about 4,000 square feet. It has two reading rooms. The library has LAN facilities and KOHA software and follows open access for UG and P.G pupils. The library has photocopy facilities and is partially computerized. Students and teachers have access to computers with free Wi-Fi connections in both the college campus and the library rooms.

The college aspires to the highest standards in teaching, learning, and administrative and academic environments so that it can be one of the country's best. We're proud of the institution's reputation for delivering a well-rounded education to thousands of students who went on to make significant contributions to society. Every year, we receive countless application forms. We aim to go beyond conventional academic programs to keep up with global trends. We've introduced academic and social development programs that have benefited both students and the community. We want to incorporate more sophisticated, value-based, and dynamic disciplines into the academic syllabi to expose undergraduates to new areas of exploration. The relentless efforts of teaching and non-teaching personnel, together with their earnestness and cooperation, have given the college a friendly, amicable ambience, providing the appropriate environment for students who want to flourish and shine. Many graduates of this college are today successful in professional, commercial, cultural, social, and artistic spheres. They're willing to form an alumni association to deepen ties with the college. The college has a sprawling, enviable setting, amazing facilities, and a sincere, dedicated faculty. The college teaches humanities, science, and business (both honours and program courses included). The college offers academic subjects for students from diverse socioeconomic and cultural backgrounds.
