

1.3.1 Institution integrates crosscutting issues relevant to Professional Ethics, Gender, Human Values, Environment and Sustainability into the Curriculum

Nabadwip Vidyasagar College is affiliated to University of Kalyani. The College does not have the privilege of making curricular of its own. But through the successful delivery of the prescribed curriculum, the College has contributed to address all of the cross-cutting issues. The undergraduate curriculum of University of Kalyani has been designed to nourish human values and professional ethics among the students. From the very first day, the students are acquainted with certain social and moral values so as to prepare them for the life to come. The educators make the students learn the culture and life style through the successful implementation of the curriculum.

Nabadwip Vidyasagar College has tried to nurture different types of values like social values, human values and spiritual values within the students. It always cherishes some human values like fellow feeling, communal harmony and universal brotherhood. The syllabus of Sanskrit literature, for instance, upholds the four-fold doctrine of life— dharma, artha, kama and moksha. Moksha or emancipation is one's ultimate goal. Dharma or duty has the biggest role in society, to impart the value-based duties of man.

The College has also been trying to integrate cross cutting issues relevant to professional ethics, gender, environment and sustainability. In an age of environmental crisis, with the rapid acceleration of technological development, we have felt the need of protecting our environment and progress towards the sustainable development. The syllabi of Geography and Commerce have addressed the issues of conservation, pollution control and sustainable development. The syllabi of Geography, Botany, Zoology and Environmental Studies address issues like biodiversity, soil erosion, global warming and species extermination. Whereas the Department of Commerce inculcates the professional ethics through the curriculum, the Cell for empowering Women through various academic activities like seminars and workshops addresses gender discrimination within the society by upholding human values.

Different departments of Nabadwip Vidyasagar College conduct educational tours at regular interval to bring the students in close contact with nature and culture of the inhabitants. The subjects which impart such value education are Sanskrit, Bengali and English Literature, Commerce, Political Science, Zoology, Botany, Geography, History, Environmental Science and Education. Along with the departments, the NSS unit of the College through various activities in the neighbourhood imparts social values among the students.

WOMEN STUDIES IN COURSE CURRICULA

Gender equity and gender sensitization is the pressing need of the hour. Gender equity theorizes equal ease of access, regardless of gender, in economic participation, decision making. Gender equality is the goal in a society where gender sensitization plays an important part because it is the teaching and encouragement of behavioral change and creation of awareness towards gender equality.

Women empowerment, gender equity, feminism, women education are the pressing issues in the twenty first century. The undergraduate course curriculum has introduced women writings, history of women in the course curriculum to have a better knowledge and understanding of gender equity and gender sensitization.

The semester- wise course curriculum is given below where issues and studies on women empowerment, feminist approach, women education, medical ethics, history of women from ancient to post-colonial era and her role in politics, economic field, socio- cultural aspects has been incorporated.

DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE

TEACHING ETHICS AND THE COMMERCE CURRICULUM

In recent years the fraternity of accounting professionals has been tarnished again and again as Companies have faltered to maintain the ethical standards. Conflict of interest is the main culprit. One of the main functions of the Accountant is stewardship. He acts as the steward of the ship called organisation. He acts as the agent while the owner and the other stakeholders are the principals. Thus the accountant has huge responsibility which extends far beyond the periphery of the shallow interest of own self and his family.

Bachelor in Commerce is the plinth where accountants of the future world are trained. The students after doing graduation in commerce go forth in achieving professional degrees to become accountants of the real world or proceed to do their masters degree in commerce to set themselves aside and become trainers in various educational institutions. Of course many students of the under graduation in commerce chooses to do none of the above two and ventures into the convoluted path of life.

Whatever a student wishes to do after his graduation in commerce, the undergraduate course has to teach him the sinew of ethics as an ethical person is the need of the hour. When a student of the bachelor of commerce ventures into the professional world he would be acting as a steward of an organisation and his understanding of Business Ethics is of prime importance.

Unfortunately the B.Com course of Kalyani University is yet to incorporate Business Ethics in the curriculum. Thus there is no option of teaching ethics at the undergraduate level.

But teaching accounting (financial and corporate) and other allied subjects without the stories of unethical practices in the accounting world is unworkable. Thus the teachers have to discourse upon various cases that have marred the accounting fraternity in the recent times.

One of the better outcomes was a project completed by a student in the final semester. Arnab Saha (roll number 1116126-180022) completed a project titled Use of Visual E -Content in Commerce Teaching - A Case Study of 'Scam -1992 in the year 2022, where he detailed the consequences of unethical practices in the Indian share market. He detailed the Harshad Meheta Scam of 1992 and how it impacted the Indian share market scenario.

1. While teaching Financial Accounting 1 (1st semester) respective teachers discourse on
 - The stewardship function of the accountant
 - The story of Enron scandal and its implication in the finance world.
 - The Satyam scandal and how it impacted the Indian accounting scenario.
 - The meaning of 'profit' and how it is not the only driving force for the business. The concept of 'triple bottom line' and the concern for the environment.
2. While teaching Principles and Practice of Management 1 (1st semester) respective teachers discourse on the Human relation school and the Hawthore experiment and the contribution of Elton Mayo. This is discussed while Evolution of Management Thoughts (unit 2).
3. While teaching Marketing Management (2nd semester) respective teachers discourse on
 - Issues of quality (Product [unit 3]) and its impact on consumer behaviour (unit 2).
 - Issues of ethics in fixation of selling price and the extent of permissible advertisement expenditure (Price and Promotion [unit 4]).
4. While teaching Financial Accounting 2 (3rd semester) respective teachers discourse on
 - The Agency Theory (principal – agent relationship) in the context of Introduction to Company Accounts (unit 5). The stewardship role of the accountant is discoursed and detailed. Case of improper behaviour of the accountant in the financial scams and scandals are discussed.
5. While teaching Income Tax (3rd semester) respective teachers discourse on
 - Ethical aspects of Tax evasion, Tax avoidance, Tax planning (unit 1).
 - The responsibility of an average citizen to ethically report the total income and the tax liability is discussed in relation to Assessment of Income (unit 5) and unit 4
6. While teaching Human Resource Management (3rd semester) respective teachers discourse on
 - The ethical aspect of recruitment and how it can impact the bottom line of the company.

7. While teaching E-Commerce and Computer Applications in Business (3rd semester) respective teachers discourse on
 - The ethical aspect of digital transaction embedded in the various models of E commerce.
8. In discoursing on various aspect of the subject, Cost Accounting (4th Semester) the respective teacher dialogues with the student on how the cost based approach to pricing can effectively lead to a more ethical pricing of a product.
9. In discussing various aspect of GST (Indirect Tax Laws – 4th Semester) the students are made to understand the input tax mechanism and the transparent declaration of various GST returns and their filing.
10. While teaching Corporate Accounting (5th semester) the respective teachers discourses upon
 - The valuation of business and the ethical issues involved as the accountant has a stewardship role.
 - Abiding by the Accounting Standard in preparation of the financial statements is discussed by the teacher as the rules of preparation and presentation (as per Companies Act 2013) is taught to the teachers.
11. In the Auditing (5th semester) the ethical focus is on auditor behaviour and the rules and principles that auditors must abide by. Contrast this to the focus in Corporate Accounting (5th Semester), where the focus is on the directors choosing the ethically appropriate presentation of the accounts and wider information published. This means that when answering the questions in the audit paper on ethics the focus must remain on considerations, the consequences and the actions to be taken by the auditor rather than the client or business that is being audited.
12. In Corporate Governance and Social Responsibility of Business (semester 5) ethical aspects of major corporate scandals in India and abroad (Unit 3) is discussed along with the various cases that occurred over the years. Ethical aspects of whistle-blowing and corporate governance are discussed in unit 4. Corporate social responsibility is discussed in unit 5. This is a major paper that has direct linkage with the development of professional ethics of the student. After completing this course, student would be able to identify the ethical aspects of the profession of Accounting.
